there were increased numbers of lymphocytes in the portal tracts and the parenchyma after ovulation and the LH surge, the follicular tissue in the ovary that surrounded the released egg remains, and secretes large amounts of progesterone